ABSTRACT:
Organization Description: Since 1936 the Kent School of Social Work at the University of Louisville has offered graduate level courses in the area of social work. The School's mission states "in the context of a research institution, the Kent School is committed to knowledge development that informs the practice of social work, recognizing the importance of collaboration among differing disciplines to solve complex social problems." The Kent School of Social Work has a long-standing partnership with the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services developing, implementing, and evaluating child welfare training to enhance the professional development of child welfare staff.

Use(s) of ACF Program Grant Funds: This project will provide a comprehensive mix of post-adoption services to ensure that adoptive families have the best possible opportunity to be successful. The project proposes that approximately 810 families will receive education/training during the five-year grant period. This demonstration project will include a comprehensive evaluation of adoptive family satisfaction with services, intervention fidelity, marital and familial relationship functioning, and adoption disruption.
