ABSTRACT:
Organization Description: Cook Inlet Tribal Council, Inc. (CITC) is a private, non-profit 501(c)(3) tribal human and social service organization that provides social, educational and employment services to Alaska Natives and Native Americans living in the Cook Inlet region of Alaska, which includes the Municipality of Anchorage. The mission of CITC is "to work in partnership with Our People to develop opportunities that fulfill Our endless potential." CITC administers 45 culturally appropriate programs serving over 12,000 people, through six departments. Three of these departments: Recovery Services, Educational Services System, Employment and Training Services (which includes Tribal TANF) and Child and Family Services are directly involved in the implementation of this grant.

Use(s) of ACF Program Grant Funds: The Cook Inlet Tribal Council (CITC) proposes a project entitled "Agency Without Walls" that seeks to integrate Child and Family Services, Recovery Services, and Employment and Training Services (including Tribal TANF) by breaking down departmental silos, developing centralized service delivery through infrastructure development, and creating systemic policy changes to the manner in which program participants are served. The project also seeks to strengthen the existing Native System of Care model in order to create fluid boundaries between CITC and other Anchorage, AK service agencies that are ancillary to Child Protective Services.
