ABSTRACT:
The Research Foundation of the State University of New York (SUNY) will field test, evaluate, and disseminate a comprehensive, research-supported training model. This model is tailored to New York State’s state-supervised and county-administered system. Two of the four project goals target training and training-induced improvements in representative demonstration sites. In each site, project staff will train administrators, supervisors, and staff developers to build managerial and organizational capacity and support cross-role, training design, and implementation teams. Training facilitators will train teams to use a turnover prevention inventory, research briefs on recruitment and retention, and implement an improvement model recommended by New York State. As agency training proceeds, the project will include faculty consultants serving as linkage agents with Bachelor’s of Social Work and Master’s of Social Work programs. Lastly, the project will participate in dissemination-oriented networking and partnerships, which will be facilitated by the New York State Social Work Education Consortium.
