ABSTRACT:
Black Family Development, Inc. will replicate the Family Connections evidence based child abuse and neglect prevention program in two high-risk Wayne County communities, Detroit and Highland Park, and test the Family Connections program component's effectiveness within these settings. This replication project is a cooperative venture between Black Family Development, Inc., the University of Maryland, and the Children's Bureau of the Department of Health and Human Services. Black Family Development, Inc. believes the proposed replication design and cost analysis outcomes will contribute to the Children's Bureau's pursuit of promising programs that expand the knowledge base about effective strategies in preventing child abuse and neglect.
